DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 12-14 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Applicant timely traversed the restriction (election) requirement in the reply filed on 5/26/2005
2. Applicant's election with traverse of group I, claims 1-10 in the reply filed on 5/26/2005 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that claims 1 -11 should be examined together. This is found persuasive because applicant has elected the species of armrest in the interview of 6/16/2005. Claims 12-14 remain withdrawn.
3. This application contains claims 12-14 drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse in Paper of 5/26/2005. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1, 4-6, 8, 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Fillion et al.

Fillion et al. has substrate member 18 with target area 44 (figure 4B) of reduced thickness relative the remainder. Member 18 is a substrate in having a coating 43, col. 6, line 11.

“Substrate” is defined as “something that underlies or serves as a basis of foundation”, Random House College Dictionary, 1978. Applicant is relying on the second definition to define his invention in the remarks of 9/20/2005. However, the claims are open-ended as to the use of the first definition, relied on by the examiner. A “structural support” is also open-ended in claim limitation as a flexible switch plate underlying a coating serves as a structural support for the armrest. Consider, if it was not present, the armrest would be softer to touch, the arm would descend further into the foam 24 and the “support” would be less.

As to claims 5-6, see foam backing member 24, bonded to underside surface, col. 3, line 62, claim 8.

As to claim 11, see backing member support 22.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 3612

8. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fillion et al. in view of Pokorzynski et al.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Fillion et al. a surface texture as taught by Pokorzynski et al. in order to form an aesthetically pleasing surface.

9. Claims 3 and 10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fillion et al.

Reinforcing ribs and polymers are of common knowledge in this art, obvious to use to strengthen and for their material properties, respectively.

As applicant has not challenged these statements of judicial notice, they are made final.

“Injection moldable” is a process step not given patentable weight in a product claim.

10. Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Fillion et al..

“Molding” is a process step not given patentable weight in a product claim.

Allowable Subject Matter

11. Claim 7 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments filed 9/20/2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Please see the detailed action above.

Conclusion

13. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Dry and Renault are cited to show variable thickness substrates.

14. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
